DAILY PITTSBURGH GAZETTE.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON, JAN. 9, 1834.

BANK OF THE UNITED STATES.—We, yesterday, published an article noticing the extraordinary suggestion of the Journal of Commerce, a Jackson paper, in New York, that if the present able and upright President and Directors of the Bank of the United States would resign, that then the Bank might be rechartered, with some trifling modifications.—We consider this suggestion a very pregnant one.—It goes to show that the objections made to the Bank, on constitutional grounds, are, as we have always supposed them to be, mere pretences, and confirms, entirely, the suspicion that the Kitchen Cabinet have no objection to a National Bank, but an invincible repugnance to an honest and independent institution.

"Let the President, Directors, all resign—let us have a chance of getting a new Board, and a new President, who will aid in extending what Saml. M'Kean calls 'the corrupting system of Albany politics,' throughout the Union—a Board of Directors that will dismiss, at once, every Cashier, and Teller, and Runner, who is not a tool of the Kitchen Cabinet, and then the Bank will be rechartered."—Such, in substance, is the suggestion of this organ of the Kitchen Cabinet.

Our readers will, probably, most of them, recollect that the first difficulty between the Bank and the administration arose out of the attempt of Mr. Ingham to procure the dismissal of Mr. Mason, an anti Jackson man, from the presidentship of the branch at Portsmouth. The parent board having ascertained that Mr. Mason was an able and upright officer, very properly declared that they had no right to inquire into his politics. They considered that they would perform their duty by attending to the interests of the Stockholders, and of the public generally, and to the preservation of a sound and uniform currency throughout the country. The Kitchen Cabinet deems a uniform system of politics a very important desideratum.

GENERAL M'KEAN.—Another long letter of this gentleman, to the editor of the Northern Banner, dated December 6, 1833, has been published in that paper.—The following are extracts from it:

"From that period to the present, the adherents of Mr. Van Buren, not confined alone to Pennsylvania, have pursued me with untiring and unrelenting persecution. They seem now to be most alarmed, lest, if I were elected, it might be claimed and proclaimed as a victory over Mr. V. B.—For myself, I should have no particular pride on this point; and whatever may be the result of threatening, promises, and management, one thing is clear, that at the late elections in this state, the people decided in my favor—and that, in doing so they also decided against Mr. Van Buren, appears to me at least as clear a case as that assumed, and to which I assent, that the re-election of Gen. Jackson was, by the people, a virtual decision against the U. S. Bank." * * * * *

"You know I have always deprecated the introduction of the corrupting system of Albany politics into Pennsylvania; and you can see, as far as it has extended, how fully my predictions of its mischievous effects have been verified. For a moment cast your eye over the State, and note the character and conduct of the recent converts to this new political faith—and who are they? They are the broken down, disappointed, disaffected, and disorganizing of all parties; and the first and most essential initiating requisite seems to be to understand well the routine of duty, and mode of pay and compensation; consisting of men whose only apparent object is the gratification of the love of power and filthy lucre."

CONCLUSION OF MR. CLAY'S SPEECH.

We have, Mr. President, a most wonderful Financier at the head of our Treasury Department. He sits quietly by in the Cabinet, and witnesses the contest between his colleague and the President. Sees the conflict in the mind of that colleague between his personal attachment to the President, on the one hand, and his solemn duty to the public on the other. Behold the triumph of conscientious obligation. Contemplates the noble spectacle of an honest man, preferring to surrender an exalted office, with all its honors and emoluments, rather than betray the interests of the people. Witnesses the insulting and contemptuous expulsion of that colleague from office; and then coolly enters the vacated place, without the slightest sympathy or the smallest emotion. He was installed on the 23d of September, and by the 26, the brief period of three days, he discovers that the Government of the United States had been wrong from its origin; that every one of his predecessors, from Hamilton, down including Gallatin, (who, whatever I said of him on a former occasion, and that I do not mean to retract, possessed more practical knowledge of currency, banks, and finance, than any man I have ever met in the public councils,) Dallas, and Crawford, had been mistaken about both the expediency and constitutionality of the Bank; that every Chief Magistrate, prior to him whose patronage he enjoyed, had been wrong; that Congress, the Supreme Court of the United States, and the people of the United States, during the thirty seven years they had acquiesced in or recognized the utility of a Bank, were all wrong. And, opposing his single opinion to their united judgments, he dismisses the Bank, scatters the public money, and undertakes to regulate and purify the public morals, the public press, and popular elections!

If we examine the operations of this modern Turgot, in their financial bearing merely, we shall find still less for approbation.

1. He withdraws the public moneys, where, by his own deliberate admission, they were perfectly safe, with a Bank of thirty five millions of capital, and ten millions of specie, and he places them, at great hazard, with Banks of comparatively small capital, and but little specie, of which the Metropolis Bank is an example.

2. He withdraws from a Bank created by, and over which the Federal Government had ample control, and puts them in other banks created by different Governments, and over which it has no control.

3. He withdraws them from a Bank in which the American people, as a stockholder, were drawing their fair proportion of interest accruing on loans, of which those deposits formed the basis, and put them where the people of the United States draw no interest.

4. From a Bank which has paid a bonus of a million and a half, which the people of the United States may now be liable to refund, and puts them in Banks which paid to the American people no bonus.

5. Depreciates the value of the Stock in a bank where the General Government holds seven millions, and advances that of Banks in whose stock it does not hold a dollar, and whose aggregate capital does not probably much exceed that very seven millions. And finally,

6. He dismisses a Bank whose paper circulates, in the greatest credit, throughout the Union and in Foreign countries, and engages in the public service Banks whose paper has but a limited and local circulation in the "immediate vicinities."

These are immediate and inevitable results.—How much that large and long standing item of unavailable funds, annually reported to Congress will be swelled and extended, remains to be developed by time.

And now, Mr. President, what, under all these circumstances, is it our duty to do? Is there a Senator who can hesitate to affirm, in the language of the resolutions that the President has assumed a dangerous power over the Treasury of the United States not granted to him by the Constitution and the Laws; and that the reasons assigned for the act, by the Secretary of the Treasury, are insufficient and unsatisfactory?

The eyes and the hopes of the American people are anxiously turned to Congress. They feel that they have been deceived and insulted; their confidence abused; their interests betrayed; and their liberties in danger. They see a rapid and alarming concentration of all power in one man's hands. They see that, by the exercise of the positive authority of the Executive, and his negative power exerted over Congress, the will of one man alone prevails, and governs the Republic. The question is no longer what laws will Congress pass, but what will the Executive not veto? The President, and not Congress, is addressed for Legislative action. We have seen a Corporation, charged with the execution of a great National work, dismiss an experienced, faithful, and zealous President, afterwards testify to his ability by a voluntary resolution, and reward his extraordinary services by a large gratuity, and appoint in his place an Executive favorite, totally inexperienced and incompetent, to propitiate the President. We behold the usual incidents of approaching tyranny. The land is filled with spies and informers; and detraction and denunciation are the orders of the day. People, especially official incumbents, in this place, no longer dare speak in the fearless tones of manly freemen, but in the cautious whispers of trembling slaves. The premonitory symptoms of Despotism are upon us; and if Congress do not apply an instantaneous and effective remedy, the fatal collapse will soon come on, and we shall die—ignobly die! base, mean, and abject slaves—the scorn and contempt of mankind—unpitied, unwept, unmourned!

[The conclusion of the Speech was followed by repeated and loud applause in the Galleries, as it had been often interrupted before.]

PENNSYLVANIA LEGISLATURE.

On Friday, a quorum was not formed in either house.

On Saturday, the Senate formed a quorum, and done a good deal of business. The House did not form a quorum.

This Day—both Houses are full, and the members have got to business in earnest.—Har. Chron. Jan. 6.

Massachusetts.—The Legislature of Massachusetts convened at Boston on the 1st inst. The Hon. Benjamin T. Pickman was chosen President of the Senate, and William B. Calhoun, Speaker of the House, having received 500 votes out of 501. John Kuhn was appointed Messenger, for the forty eighth time.

The Speaker read to the House the following letter from the Hon. John Quincy Adams.

To the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, for the year 1834.

Washington, (D. C.) Dec. 21, 1833.

SIR—From the returns of the votes of the People of the Commonwealth, for the election of a Governor, for the ensuing year, as they are given in the public journals, it appears that there has been no election by the people. It appears also that my name is one of the four having the highest numbers, among those between whom their suffrages were divided.

In that event, should it be ascertained by the authentic canvass of the votes, my name will be one of the four from which it will, by the provisions of the Constitution of the Commonwealth, be the province of the House of Representatives to select two, to be sent to the Senate, for the choice by that body, of a Governor of the State.

The object of this communication is, through you, sir, to request the members of the House to bestow their suffrages upon other candidates, and to consider my name as withdrawn—as in the possible event of my election by the Senate, I should deem it my duty to decline accepting the appointment.

I am, with the highest respect, your obedient servant and fellow citizen,

JOHN Q. ADAMS.

The reading of this letter produced considerable sensation in the House. All parties appeared to be taken by surprise.

From the Maysville Eagle, January 2.

MAIL ROBBER DETECTED.

In the month of October last, the chief clerk in the Queensware establishment of Mr. Thomas G. Gaylord, of this city, deposited in the post office a letter containing seven hundred dollars, addressed to a merchant of Pittsburgh. It was shortly after ascertained that the letter, containing the enclosure, had not come to hand, and that the particular mail in which it was forwarded, had disappeared. Immediately upon the fact of the loss having been made known to the Post Office department, the Postmaster of Maysville was commissioned to use all practicable exertions to ferret out the robber, and bring him to punishment.—From the following letter, with which we have been politely furnished, it will be seen that the robber has been caught and placed in confinement, to await his trial.

"Chillicothe, O., Dec. 29, 1833.

Dear Sir—As I may not be at home for several days, I hasten to inform you that I have lodged the mail robber in jail at Columbus, to stand his trial at the next term of Federal Court. He confesses his guilt on two occasions—the 28th September and the 26th October, the two very mails I have been in search of. The robbery was committed, he says, 2 miles east of Sinking Springs, Ohio.

I have recovered $1,300 in $100 bills, which are specially deposited in the Franklin Bank of Columbus, for safe keeping until the trial.

There is no doubt of the fact, the Driver had accomplices.

In haste, respectfully,
N. D. COLEMAN.

MR. J. D. BARKER, A. P. M.

A remedy.—The Richmond Enquirer, remarking on the embarrassment of the local banks under the existing pecuniary distress, says, "let them strengthen themselves by importing specie from abroad." This is a bright idea. The only parallel to it, for originality, that we can recollect, is the naive remark of the English princess, when, during a season of scarcity and stagnation of trade, being informed that thousands of our poor creatures were starving for food, asked, "Why don't they eat bread and cheese? I am sure I would do that, rather than die of hunger."—Nat. Intel.

The business done on the Ohio Canal, during the last year, when contrasted with that transacted the previous season, exhibits an increase which must be gratifying to all who are interested in the success of our works of internal improvement.—For the following particulars, we are indebted to the politeness of D. H. Beardsley, Esq. the Collector of revenue at this place. This statement has reference to the amount of property which arrived at, and was cleared from, this place alone. We have no means, at present, of ascertaining the aggregate amount done on the whole line.—Cleveland Herald, Jan. 4.

Illinois.—We understand that the Supreme Court of this state, at its late session at Vandalia, declared the law establishing the State Bank of Illinois to be unconstitutional. The effect of this decision will be, we suppose, to prevent the collection of all debts now due the Bank, and to release the mortgaged property of debtors from farther liability for them. Nevertheless, the faith of the state is pledged for the redemption of all the notes yet in circulation—the interest upon which, we suppose, now amounts to almost as much as the principal. So ends this ill advised attempt, on the part of the legislature, to relieve the distresses of the people by establishing a Rag Bank, without even the shadow of capital for its base. No one, we venture to say, was bettered in his circumstances by borrowing the notes of the bank, even though they may not now be compelled to forfeit the consideration stipulated to be given for them. And the people collectively have to pay the redemption money, with interest to boot.—These are practical lessons!—Md. Repub.

Strength and Weakness.—The New York Evening Star has published a table of the safety fund Banks in the State of New York. There are thirty four of these. They have notes in circulation to the amount of $6,118,417; and they have specie to redeem them amounting to $329,493.—In other words, the average amount of bills in circulation in these thirty four banks, in proportion to the specie, is five cents and three mills to the dollar. The Star says—

"But this is not the whole story of this Safety Fund system. We find, on examining the Report of the Bank Commissioners, that the deposits in the Safety Fund Banks exceed the amount of bills in circulation; so that the total amount of the liabilities of these Banks may be stated at twelve millions of dollars, which reduces the proportion of specie in vault to two cents and three mills on the dollar! If we are in error in this statement, we request the friends of the Safety Fund to correct it."

Unless the President's Lower Cabinet can be propitiated, petitions and memorials will be alike in vain. No numbers of the people, no depth of public distress, and no action of both Houses of Congress, will be regarded by Gen. Jackson.—The Bank incurred the inextinguishable hatred of the President, because its directors would not allow the lower cabinet to use it for political purposes, and what are a nation's woes, in comparison with the gratification of an Executive's revenge? In our opinion, there is but one way in which the wrongs inflicted upon the people, and the Bank, can be redressed. Let the Senate stand firm, and insert an amendment in every appropriation bill received from the House, directing that such appropriations shall be paid only from public moneys deposited in the Bank of the United States. Such an amendment, and a resolute adherence to it by the Senate, would soon bring the factious to terms.—N. Y. Com. Adv.

We have received, says the New York Daily Advertiser, of Saturday last, the official communication, mentioned in Major Downing's last letter, as having been read by him to the Cabinet, at a late meeting of the illustrious body, which we intend to publish on Monday. We understand, from our "Friend," that this document was kept back for a day or two, under an expectation, or at least a hope, that the whole matter to which it relates might be amicably adjusted, without making it public; but that he became fully satisfied the Cabinet would never agree upon any thing, and that there was not the least prospect of their ever becoming a "Unit" again, and he therefore concluded to take his own way, and forward the article for publication. We have reason to be much gratified with the Major's determination, as it will enable us to give to our readers what we think is one of the ablest views of the controversy that has hitherto appeared—not even excepting the fair, frank, and manly exposition of the "Government Bank Directors"—those gentlemanly spies of the Kitchen Cabinet.—Poulson, January 6.

On St. Crispin's day, the festival of the shoemakers, a serious disturbance arose at Macon and Sens, (France,) in consequence of their introducing the compass and square in the ensigns of their trade, which gave much offence to the masons and joiners, and bloody contests ensued—the latter workmen insisting that they were solely entitled to these emblems. It appears that this has been an ancient feud, from the shoemakers and cordwainers being excluded from the associations of the trades called Compagnonage, because the leather did not enter into the construction of the Temple of Solomon, which is asserted to have been the foundation of all associations of craftsmen.

A London paper says, "Sugar is now becoming a universal ingredient in many of our soups in ordinary use, such as soup cressi, gravy soup, &c. being found to add greatly in their flavor and wholesomeness."

FROM VERA CRUZ.

The ship Congress, Capt. Kingsbury, has furnished intelligence from the Mexican capital to the 1st, and from Vera Cruz to the 17th ult. The meteoric exhibition of the 13th of November, was witnessed at Mexico, and the account of it is given with many absurd exaggerations.

Notwithstanding the accounts heretofore received of the profound tranquillity said to exist over the face of the whole Republic, we find that an attack was made on the 30th November, by the rebel General Moreno, at the head of six hundred men, upon the Government troops posted at Flapan, for the defence of the town. The rebels were compelled to retire; but this renewed disturbance shows that Mexican intelligence is to be received with many grains of caution.

General Victoria arrived at Jamiltepec on the 25th of November. On the previous day, General Montezuma had an engagement with three hundred insurgents who had been sent to the succor of Canalizo, and is said to have destroyed them.—We place very little reliance, however, on these partisan accounts. Our latest previous advices represented Canalizo as among the banished fugitives, departing from the Mexican republic. He was consequently beyond the reach of succor.

The deaths by cholera had been 437, at Vera Cruz, and it was still raging with great mortality along the coasts of the Pacific.—Com. Adv., of 4th Jan.

BOSTON, Dec. 31, 1833.

Reminiscences for the day.—What vast changes have occurred among us, since "two hundred years ago"! In 1633, "a son of Mr. Henry Oliver," says the Annals of Boston, "was killed on the Boston neck by the falling of a tree." In the same year the town was rated 5 pounds tax by the General Court; and the same authority ordered that Mr. Blackstone should have fifty acres of land in Boston—about a twelfth part of its area—he being "the first European inhabitant." The Island "East Boston"—the scene this season of such large calculation was that season leased for the annual rent of "a fat wether, or a fat hog, or £10 in money." December, 1633, is also memorable for the extensive ravages of the small pox among the neighboring Indians, 30 of them sometimes dying in a day—among whom were the famous Sachems John of Winnesimmet, and James of Lynn Beach. The only notable matter stated of 1733 is, that then the first Lodge of the Free Masons was held in Boston—which we find in Lewis's Annals—Boston Mercantile Journal.

Loss of Character.—A respectable farmer, in Ross shire, traveling a short distance on horseback, having occasion to cross the river Conan, found, on the banks of the stream, a young woman, also desirous of getting across. She informed the farmer that she was in quest of a situation, and had an excellent character from her last place. As the river was high, the good natured farmer took the girl up behind him on his horse, and conveyed her over the water. Unfortunately, however, the written certificate of character fell out of the young woman's breast, where she had placed it for safety, and was carried off by the stream. She was in distress at this mishap, till her kind conductor assured her that he would give her a character; and this pledge he redeemed, on their arrival at a house, on the opposite side, in the following brief but pithy words:—"Sept. 10, 1833.—These certify that the bearer, Peggy M'Kenzie, lost her character this day, while crossing the river Conan with me, Andrew Monro." We need hardly add, that this very equivocal statement was given in perfect good faith and sincerity. The girl accepted it with many thanks, but was soon convinced that the honest farmer's words did not correspond with his intentions, and that she required, what it is generally difficult to obtain, a new character.

Louis XVIII.—At the period of the restoration, the Duc de ———, one of the most confidential servants of Napoleon, become attached to the Royal Household. "Before I admit you into my secrets, my dear Duke," said the King, in honoring him with a first private audience at the Tuileries, "you must favor me with a few of yours in exchange. Pray, how did you manage to obtain such a correct intelligence of my proceedings during my sojourn at Milan and Verona? Who was the fellow that so far violated his trust as to afford to the Emperor intelligence of all that was passing in my household?"—"The Verona and Milan affairs, Sire, were before my time," replied the Duke; "but, at Hartwell, I am under the necessity of avowing that we obtained all our information through the treachery of the Duc d'Aumont."—"Not a bit!" cried his Majesty, laughing heartily. "D'Aumont and I were both very poor. He received 400*l.* per annum out of the 2000*l.* which you used to forward him so regularly, as the price of the secret information with which we favored you in return—but the balance was paid over to me!"—The confusion of the new minister may be readily conceived.

THE MARKET.

Nothing new has occurred during the day—the market for all descriptions of produce remains in a languid state, and no sales of moment have been made. We continue to quote Superfine Flour, at $5 25; Scraped, at $5; Rye, at $3 62 1-2; Corn Meal, at $2 75; do. in hhds. at $12 50. About 1,000 bushels U. C. Corn, afloat, at 60 cts.; and a small lot of Rye Whiskey, in bbls., at 28 cts.—We understand hhds. have been sold in Market street, 23 cents.

Remarks.—It will be perceived, by our annexed notice of the markets, that the business transacted during the past week, has been very limited.

No change in fact has been experienced in the embarrassed state of affairs to which we have previously alluded, and of which every man of business is by this time thoroughly and most alarmingly convinced. In the emphatic language of our Board of Trade, a "sudden gloom has come over the community, and spread gloom and apprehension throughout the great interests which support its prosperity." The truth of this statement is every where manifest in the complete prostration of business, and the almost total suppression of the customary resources. At the present moment, money is not to be had, under any circumstances; and, as an inevitable consequence, the whole business of the community is shackled, and brought down to a state of inactivity that is not merely unprecedented, but absolutely distressing. We are by no means disposed to take the darkest view of any subject, particularly of one in which, as publishers of a commercial paper, we have so evident an interest; and much less have we any disposition to blend with our legitimate concerns any of a party character. We equally disclaim any disposition to give a false coloring to distresses which we have so much evidence of, or to lend ourselves to the purposes of party. We are no politicians: our sheet is what it professes to be, devoted entirely and exclusively to commercial pursuits, and anxiously laboring to advance the mercantile interest of the country, and to secure the approbation of the enlightened and disinterested of all parties.

What we have said has been given for the single purpose of assigning a satisfactory reason for the meagre account which we furnish our readers in the following

Extracts from the Review of the Philadelphia Market, for the week ending Jan. 4, 1834.

COFFEE—40 bags Rio, of prime quality, at 12 1-2, 4 mths.; 50 bags Laguira at 12 1-2, 4 mths.; 20 bags Java, 14c., 3 per ct. off, 13 1-2 offered for more; 50 bags Cuba, 12 1-4 cts.; small sales of Rio at auction. The import of the week is very trifling.

COTTON—A reduction in price has been submitted to, both here and elsewhere; the sales of the week embrace 250 bales of Georgia, Virginia, Carolina, and New Orleans, at 11 1-2 a 13 1-2 cents, 4 mths.

The import of the past week is 1,494 bales, 1,000 from N. Orleans, 50 do. Richmond, 300 do. Petersburg, 144 do. Charleston.

FLOUR AND MEAL—The Flour Market is quite inactive, the holders feeling very averse to sell on time—the stock not being large, a disposition is evinced either to sell for cash or keep the article in store—the prices appear to be firm. The sales of the week are about 2,000 bbls. superfine flour, at $5 25. 100 bbls. Rye, at $3 62 1-2—a fair retail demand exists. 336 hhds. Corn Meal, at $12 25; 400 bbls. do. do. at $2 75.

SUGARS—We have nothing of interest to advise. A few boxes white Havana have been taken, at 10 3-4 c.; and 10 hhds, N. O., at 8 1-4 a 8 1-2 cts.—small sales at auction. Imports of the week are of N. O. 209 hhds., 11 tierces; from Attakapas, 113 hhds.; 229 boxes Cuba.

TEAS—The only operation is a sale of 175 small boxes Imperial, at 80 c.—all other descriptions are dull.—U. S. Gaz.

Curious Custom in Sweden.—It is an almost universal custom in Sweden, during the Christmas holydays, to expose a sheaf of unthrashed corn on a pole, in the vicinity of their dwelling, for the poor sparrows and other birds, which, at this inclement period of the year, must be a state of starvation.

AN ORDINANCE

To divide the City into Wards or Districts, and for other purposes.

WHEREAS, by an Act of the General Assembly of this Commonwealth, passed the 26th day of December, 1833, the Select and Common Councils of the City of Pittsburgh are required to meet on the first Tuesday in January, and divide said city into four wards or districts, and fix the places for holding all General and City Elections, for the said wards, at such houses within the bounds of the respective wards, and not elsewhere.

SCTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted, by the Select and Common Councils of the City of Pittsburgh, That from and after the passage of this Ordinance, the City of Pittsburgh shall be divided into four wards, in the manner following, viz:—So much of the said city as lies northwardly of the middle of Liberty street, and eastwardly of the middle of Marbury street, shall be one ward, to be called the North Ward. So much of the said city as is included in the following boundaries, viz: Beginning at the middle of Liberty and Marbury streets, and running thence down Marbury street to the Allegheny river, thence along the Allegheny river to its confluence with the Monongahela river, thence up the Monongahela river to the middle of Wood street, thence up the middle of Wood street to Diamond alley, thence up the middle of Diamond alley to Market street, thence up the middle of Market street to the middle of Liberty street, and thence down the middle of Liberty street to the place of beginning, shall be one ward, to be called the West Ward. And so much of said city as is included in the following boundaries, viz: Beginning at the foot of Wood street, on the Monongahela river, thence up the middle of Wood street to the middle of Diamond alley, thence along the middle of Diamond alley to the middle of Smithfield street, thence down the middle of Smithfield street to the middle of Fourth street, thence along the middle of Fourth street, and up the Farmers' and Mechanics' Turnpike Road, to the City Line, and thence by the same to the Monongahela river, thence down the same to the place of beginning, shall be one ward, to be called the South Ward; and so much of said city as lies east of the middle of Liberty Street, Diamond Alley and the boundaries of the South Ward, above named, shall be one ward, and be called the East Ward.

SECT. 2. And be it further ordained and enacted, That from and after the passage of this ordinance, the places for holding all general and city elections for the respective wards or districts, as described by the first section of this ordinance shall be as follows:—For the West Ward at the Court House, in the Diamond—For the South Ward at the house now occupied by William Alexander, at the corner of Smithfield and Third Streets—For the East Ward at the House now occupied by John Dully, at the corner of Wood and Fifth Streets--and for the North Ward at the House now occupied by Thomas Wynne, at the corner of Liberty and St. Clair Streets.

SECT. 3. And be it further ordained and enacted, That when each Election to be had and held, in pursuance of the aforesaid recited act of Assembly, for Mayor shall be closed and the number of votes for each candidate or person voted for shall be counted and ascertained, the persons authorized to hold and conduct such elections, or a majority of them, shall within twenty four hours thereafter, meet at the Court House in the Diamond, and shall then and there prepare and make, under their hands and seals the return thereof, containing the names of each candidate or person voted for Mayor, with the number of votes for each, and shall appoint one of their number whose duty it shall be to deliver a true copy of said return to the president of the Select Council, previous to the first meeting of the Select and Common Councils in joint assembly to choose city officers, and shall file the original returns in the office of the Clerk of the City Court, and the Select and Common Councils shall, in their joint meeting, proceed to examine such Election Returns, and to hear all remonstrances and objections to the same, and determine thereon, and to declare the person qualified, having the greatest number of votes, to be legally elected, and in cases where the election has been illegally or unfairly conducted or the number of illegal votes given may render the result doubtful, the councils shall have power to set the same aside and order a new election, giving notice thereof, as in the case of other special elections.

SECT. 4. Be it further ordained and enacted, That so much of any ordinance as is hereby altered and supplied, be and the same is hereby repealed.

J. APPLETON'S LATE IMPROVED
WASHING MACHINE.

THIS valuable improvement has been preferred by all who have used it to any other machine of the kind yet offered to the public.—It is expeditious, without injuring the clothes washed, as will be seen in the certificates below. All those who wish to save labor in washing, will please to call and see the operation, at the Masinon House, corner of Wood and Fifth streets. Machines, and the right of counties for sale—Machines 12 dollars—and at any persons service for trial. Dec. 31, 1833.

We have had in use Appleton's Patent Washing Machine, and do not hesitate to say that it is preferable to any that we have seen or used. A woman can wash as much in one day, with the machine, as she could in three by the hand, and only half the soap is necessary. We think it clears the clothes better than hand washing, without injury to them. We have also used Barnes' Patent Steam Washing Machine, called Peg Machine, but give Appleton's the preference. It washes cleaner and faster; therefore we recommend Appleton's Machine to the public in general.

Lucy Higginbotham, | Elizabeth McKim.
Robert Poore,

We have in use Appleton's Patent Washing Machine. It is so simple in its construction that it may be used by any unskilful hand, and we do recommend it as a great saving of time and labor.

Hamilton County Agricultural Society.

It is hereby certified, that the Judges, appointed by the Hamilton County Agricultural Society, for the exhibition, held at Mill Creek, on the second of October, 1833, having awarded that Appleton's Washing Machine, submitted to the Society, on trial, appeared to their satisfaction to be of utility as a labor saving machine in domestic economy—they unhesitatingly recommend it to their fellow citizens—in testimony whereof, this Certificate is given. FAIRBANK'S PLATFORM SCALES.

THESE scales are constructed upon an improved principle; are fitted up with great care by the manufacturers, and warranted to weigh with accuracy from half a pound to 12,000. Being placed in, and forming part of, the floor, the process of weighing is performed with ease and facility, while the space they occupy may be improved as a passage way or for other purposes.

The construction of these scales is such that they are little liable to derangement of wear, and their perfect operation will be guaranteed for any reasonable length of time.

The usual objection, that a new method of weighing cannot be safely entrusted to unskilful hands, is obviated by the use of the improved Balance, concerning which are the following remarks in the Journal of the Frankiin Institute, of the state of Pennsylvania, for the promotion of the Mechanic Arts, for June, 1833. (Edited by Thos. P. Jones, M. D., late Superintendent of the Patent Office, at Washington, Professor of Mechanics in the Franklin Institute, &c.

"The Messrs. Fairbanks, some time since, obtained a patent for a Platform Weighing Machine, and this mode of adjuating and graduating the Beam of the Balance, and the weights, was devised by them with a view to its employment with the before mentioned machine. We have had an opportunity of examining one of their balances, and have been much pleased with it: this examination, however, was not necessary to the conviction that it possesses a just claim to the character of a real improvement, the whole arrangement being so simple as to enable any person to perceive that it is well adapted to the purpose contemplated, that of facilitating the business of weighing, and more especially of heavy articles."

The subscriber, as Agent, will receive orders for the above Scales, which will be made in this city to order. They can be seen at his Warehouse, No. 84, Front street.

DOCTOR ROBERT'S
☞WELCH MEDICAMENTUM.☜

FOR the cure of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Jaundice, Cholic, Fever and Ague, Dysentery, Headach, Loss of Appetite, Flatulence, Hypochondria, Hysterics, Dropsical Complaints, and Heartburn, It also prevents all Bilious disorders, and removes habitual Costiveness, Asthma, Strangury, Gravel, Rheumatism, Gout, and Impurities of the Blood.

A person who uses this Medicamentum will not require the use of the lancet, or any means of the healing art. It restores and revives the animal spirits, invigorates the system, removes nervous tremors, obtunds rheumatic and anthritic pains, and prevents their return. It cleanses the stomach of all morbid humors, which cause indigestion, acidities, headach, and lowness of spirits; cures all bilious disorders, and all cholics of the stomach and bowels, almost immediately; inspires cheerfulness; gives comfort to the dropsical; takes away palpitation of the heart; gives circulation to the blood; restores bloom to the sallow or sickly cheek, and plumpness to the meagre habit; purges without pain, and banishes all cause of fever of every kind. It acts on the stomach, that great reservoir of the human system, a diseased state of which causes all diseases. No alteration in the usual habits of life is required, but the abstaining from distilled ardent spirits.

CERTIFICATE,

From Rev. Derick Lansing, D. D., Pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church in Utica.

Utica, Jan. 6, 1830.

To Dr. Hitchcock.—Dear Sir: I have always been one of the number of those who have placed little confidence in nostrums or specifics, and for this reason, although I saw your advertisement of the Welch Medicamentum, I could not bring my mind to consent to use it. My sufferings, from indigestion, during the past summer, were so severe, as materially to affect my comfort, and my capacity for usefulness. I have reason to thank you, sir, that, on hearing of the state of my health, you kindly sent me your Medicamentum. I have taken it faithfully, and with entire success. I have not been visited with one of those turns of distress, which before were weekly periodical, since I began to take your valuable medicine. Could I receive the same relief which I have hitherto experienced, on condition of taking it for life, I should cheerfully comply with such condition. Your's, very truly, D. C. LANSING.

ANTI-DYSPEPTIC ELIXER.

ONE of the most agreeable and efficacious Medicines ever discovered for the permanent cure of those chronic states of derangement of the stomach, constituting that miserable disease called Dyspepsia.

The basis of this Elixer s vegetables, and perfectly innocent in its operation; it destroys that sour state of the stomach, the instant it is taken, and stops the morbid secretion, by giving strength to the muscular fibre of that important organ, by which means the peristaltic motion of the intestines is increased, and the costiveness obviated; a new action is given to the system, which puts an end to a train of distressing nervous sensations.

Another form of the disease in which the Elixer is admirably calculated to relieve, is the decline of fever, where the stomach will not bear the ordinary strengthening medicines indicated in such cases, it has the surprising effect of giving vigor, and restoring the natural secretions of the body, without increasing the febrile state. Not the least danger is to be apprehended from exposure to cold, while under the use of this medicine, nor will it interrupt necessary employment of the patient a single hour.

☞A number of cases of cures performed by the Anti-Dyspeptic Elixer in the vicinity of Pittsburgh can be given.

GEO. W. CARPENTER'S
COMPOUND SYRUP OF LIVERWORT,

A SAFE and Valuable Medicine for Coughs, Spitting of Blood, Consumption, and Liver Complaints.

Most of the medicines made use of for the above diseases are of a stimulating nature, composed generally of Resins and Balsams, in alcoholic solutions, which, although sometimes giving temporary relief, in almost every instance where they are freely used, aggravate the disease, and reduce the strength of the patient.

This article possesses superior advantages over these preparations, its action being of a tonic, invigorating and strengthening nature, thus overcoming the disease by promoting expectoration, and gradually increasing the strength of the patient, and thus, without being attended with any unpleasant effects: it also agrees with the stomach, in a cases, and is a pleasant medicine to take.

PATENT PLANING MACHINE.—The right to use this valuable machine, invented and patented by William Woodworth, and known as Woodworth's Patent Planing Machine, may be obtained on application to the subscriber for the counties of Allegheny, Butler, Beaver, Washington, Green, Fayette, Somerset, Cambria, Indiana, Jefferson, Clearfield, M'Kean, Warren, Venango, Mercer, Crawford, and Erie, in the State of Pennsylvania. That part of Maryland lying west of the Blue Ridge; all that part of Virginia lying west of the Blue Ridge, except the county of Ohio. The whole of the state of Ohio except the counties of Hamilton, Butler, and Montgomery. The whole of the state of Kentucky, except the counties of Jefferson, Boone, Oldham, Gallatin, and Campbell. The whole of Indiana, except the counties of Floyd, Clark, Jefferson, Dearborn, and Switzerland. The whole of the state of Illinois, and the territory of Michigan. Rights to use the machine in that part of the United States, named above, will be sold by the single county or in larger districts. As it is presumed that no one will purchase without seeing the machine at work, a description of it is deemed unnecessary. Should any person, however, wish to purchase, and find it inconvenient to visit the places where it is in operation, a machine will be furnished, warranted to plane, tongue and groove, and bring to an exact width and thickness, a white pine board of 12 feet long, and of any width from 1 to 14 inches, in one minute and ten seconds, or an oak board of the same dimensions in 2 minutes and 10 seconds. Machines may be seen at work in the cities of New Orleans, Washington, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, and others at the south and east, at Wheeling, Virginia, and at the saw mill of Messrs. Irwin & Herron, in this city.

Persons desiring to purchase will have the certificates of scientific and practical men who have seen it at work, in the different places in which it has been put up, forwarded to them. They give their opinion as to the great value of the invention, state the time they have seen boards dressed by this machine, and describe the quality of the work as compared with that performed by hand labor.
